

Improving and extending lives by treating arrhythmias

Dear Colleague

Do you want to continue to receive communication from BHRS !

The upcoming GDPR legislation is making major changes in personal data protection and how organisations handle your data and how they communicate with you.

In order to continue to communicate with you as members, BHRS needs your active consent prior to 25th May 2018.

After this we will be unable to send out any communication to the addresses we hold for you and transacting society business will become difficult.

BHRS data is held on Arrhythmia Alliance servers as part of the agreement to provide administrative support. Both BHRS and A-A have charitable status and, as such neither organisation can knowingly fail to comply with the law.

As of Friday 20th April only 72 of more than 1000 BHRS members have given consent

Please email admin@bhrs.com to indicate consent and you will continue to receive communication from BHRS in the normal way.

You may receive more than one of these communications in coming weeks but you will only need to respond to one of them.

With Kind Regards

Dr Alistair Slade
